

Dodge Sprinters

Information

The Sprinter is a Dodge truck made in Germany by Daimler-Chrysler. The emission label for a Dodge Sprinter is affixed to the valve cover and contains the letters “CARB” in the compliance statement, instead of the word “California.”

Although the California Air Resources Board (ARB) usually requires the word “California” to appear on the emission label, they have advised the department that this is an acceptable designation for Dodge Sprinters only and that they are 50-state vehicles qualifying for registration in California. (See the example below.)
